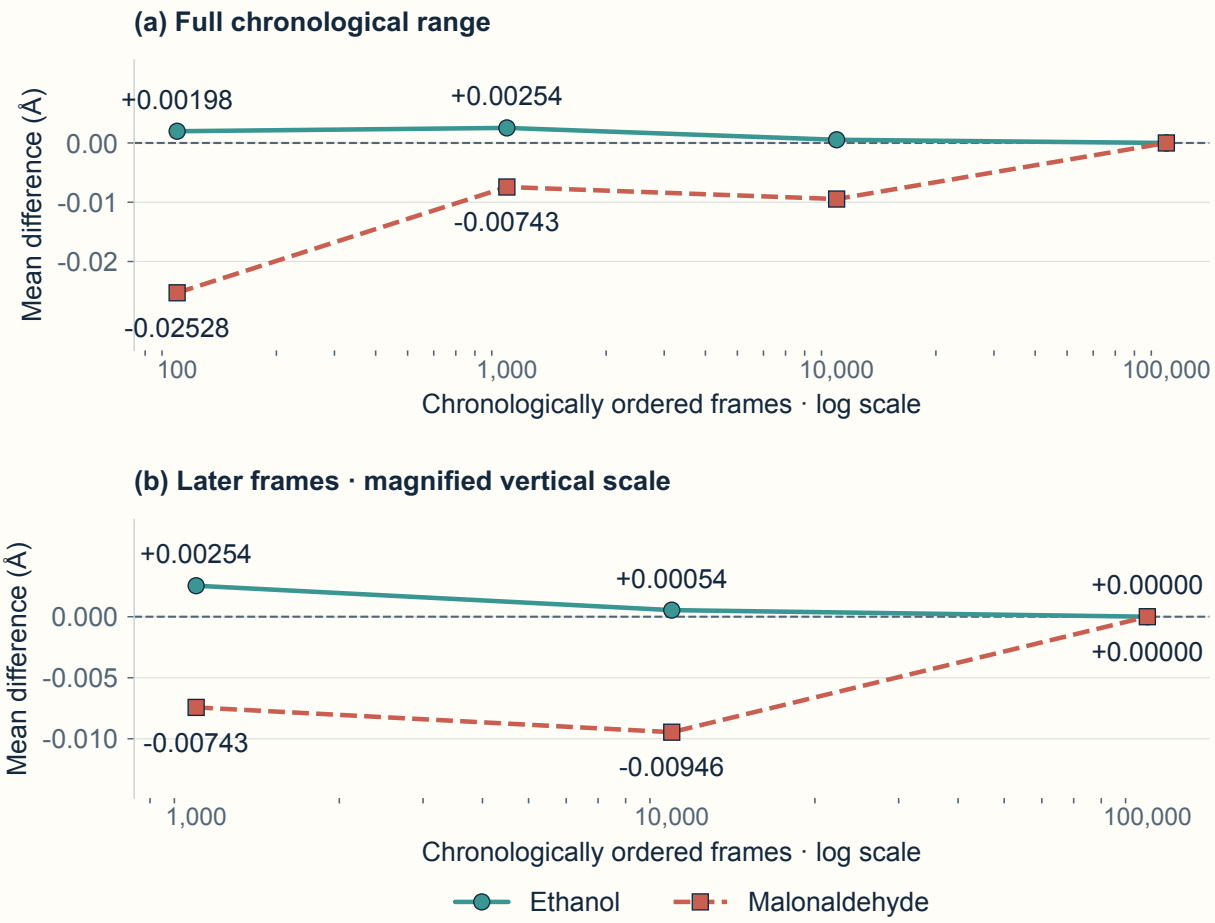
More frames do not guarantee monotone convergence

Same retained chronological observations · full-trajectory mean is a reference, not an independent truth



Both panels reuse the same values; no smoothing, new simulation or independent replication. One trajectory and one level of theory per molecule.